The Lune Rivers Trust Membership Scheme

The Lune Rivers Trust has acquired a reputation for being passionate, committed and able to deliver results in protecting and improving habitats along the River Lune and its tributaries. We now also look after the River Keer. Over the last 30 years our work (and that of our predecessor - The Lune Habitat Group) has improved biodiversity and made our rivers better for anglers, farmers, walkers, birdwatchers and anyone who works near the river or enjoys spending time there. We have achieved this by working closely with local farmers, landowners, anglers, canoeists, environmentalists and a wide range of voluntary, community and government bodies.

We need members to provide us with steady, reliable income which we can use as a base for our fundraising activities, and to help us secure match-funding from government agencies, businesses and other organisations.

For you the benefits of membership include:

- Our annual illustrated report, The Habitat Herald, which is posted to you
- Email invitations to take part in our events and activities, including work parties, meetings, talks and our AGM
- Occasional postal mailings about our events
- The knowledge that you are supporting our work on the region's rivers

(Membership does not give you voting rights; for legal reasons this is restricted to the 10 trustees)

If you would like to become a member, please complete the form overleaf and return to jenny.walmsley1@btinternet.com
